Bangkok Expressway and Metro (BEM TB, BUY, TP: THB11.22)

Growth Engines Rumble On; Keep BUY

Company Update

Keep BUY and THB11.22 TP (SOP), 28% upside and >1% dividend yield. As expected, 2Q23 net profit grew strongly, mainly on the organic growth of Bangkok Expressway and Metro's existing businesses. While we expect the vital role of such growth to continue in the upcoming quarters, we believe BEM should be regarded as a selective-growth stock.

Bulletin

STOCK/SECTOR	NEWS	COMMENT	RATING
Energy  PTT (PTT TB)	PTT has submitted its company financial statements and consolidated financial statements for the 3-month period ended 30 Jun. These statements have been reviewed by the auditors and approved by the group's audit committee. PTT posted a 2Q23 net profit of THB20.1bn (-28% QoQ, -48% YoY). (Company)	The group's results were in line with market and our expectations. In 2Q23, net income stood at THB20.1bn (-48.2% YoY) from 2Q22's numbers following lower EBITDA. In 2Q23, the EBITDA of the gas unit was reported at THB18.6 bn (-18.9% YoY) – mainly from lower gross profits from the gas separation plant business due to lower ASPs. However, there was a higher gain on derivatives and lower losses on FX rates, together with lower corporate income taxes. PTT net profit decreased 27.8% QoQ from 1Q23's numbers – mainly from the EBITDA drop and higher FX loss. However, there was a derivatives gain and corporate income tax decreases due to softening performances from PTT and its subsidiaries. The EBITDA reduction was mainly from the petrochemical &amp; refining business – its performance decreased as market GRM dropped to USD4.10 per bbl in 2Q23 from USD8.40 per bbl in 1Q23 due to lower jet and diesel spreads over crude oil despite higher sales volumes. The petrochemical wing's performance also decreased in terms of olefins and aromatics due to lower product feedstock. The PTT Exploration &amp; Production (PTTEP TB, BUY, TP: THB186) unit reported a strong-than-expected 2Q23 net profit after adjusting unit costs lower due to a drop in royalty expenses per unit. This was because there are higher sales volume contributions from projects under production sharing contract or PSC regimes such as Bongkot. The international trading business' performance also saw a decrease, mainly from lower margins per unit of crude trading following the drop in product spreads. The retail wing's performance also fell following lower average gross market margins, ie THB0.96 lower from THB1.01 per litre during the last quarter, mainly from lower oil spreads. Going forward, 2H23 oil demand is set to increase while Saudi Arabia – the OPEC+ group leader – and Russia announced an additional oil production cut plan. PTT has an attractive 0.9x P/BV (below the historical 1.5x) and yields of 5%. We maintain our call on the energy sector whilst also retaining PTT's TP and recommendation.	Sector: OVERWEIGHT Stock: PTT: BUY, TP: THB44

The Erawan G1/61 site, which previously had issues with site access, is now seeing more developments, as the company has sited eight production rigs there. Production should therefore increase from 200mmcf in 2022 to 600mmcf by the end of the year</li> <li>China and India are the largest growth demand factors in 2023 on the back of a recovery in transportation and industrial fuel demand. It will take some time before the impact of China's re-opening of borders is fully recognised – this may gather momentum in 2Q23-3Q23, and we expect an oil supply deficit in 2023</li> </ul>
