- Keep SELL and THB3.50 TP, 24% downside, with c.6 yield. Although LPN Development's FY22 earnings grew strongly YoY, this was mainly due to a one-off transaction in 3Q22. 4Q22 earnings are expected to remain subdued, and the company's underperformance continues to persist.
- 4Q22 to be the year's weakest quarter. 3Q22 net profit of THB236m was boosted by the long-delayed sales transaction of an entire office building, with very slim gains of THB155m (NPM: 6%) in Sep 2022. We expect 4Q22 net profit to weaken to THB88m (+174%YoY, -63%QoQ) due to the absence of a big-lot sale transaction. The Lumpini Ville Chaengwattana Pakkret Station, with an updated take-up rate of only 28%, is a newly completed condominium project which dominated 4Q22 sales revenue, while the existing inventory of condominium units on hand maintained its slow take-up momentum. As 3Q22's low GPM was blended by the low-margin transaction of selling an office building, 4Q22 GPM will return to the normal level of 26.8%. As usual, 4Q22 may also have to recognise SG&A expenses relating to employee benefits. Based on our 4Q22 earnings forecast, we revise down our FY22 net profit by 5%. Nevertheless, FY22 net profit should grow strongly to THB662m (+119%YoY) with the one-off transaction. Excluding this transaction, it should grow 68%YoY.
- Opportunity to liquidate condominium inventory. After the one-off transaction of selling the office building provided a boost for FY22 earnings, FY23 prospects will again heavily rely on its core businesses, especially the completed condominium units priced under <THB3m per unit, which are anticipated to recover strongly within FY23. Note that LPN is holding almost THB20bn of condominium inventory – completed units and under-construction units – while there will be two condominium projects delivered this year. Conservatively, we expect FY23 earnings to grow slightly by 4%YoY.
- The role of low-rise projects. In addition to its attempts to liquidate its condominium inventory, another support for FY23 earnings should be its three Venue 168 townhouse projects, which will be recognised as revenue from 3Q23 onwards. The company is also planning to launch five new premium low-rise projects this year under the "168" brand, worth THB5bn in total, to expand its low-rise project portfolio and tap into the industry's outperforming segment.
- Based on our proprietary ESG methodology, we derive an ESG score of 2.9 for LPN, which is below the country median. Accordingly, we apply an 8% ESG discount to our TP, which is based on 8.1x FY23F P/E. From this we derive our THB3.50 TP. Keep SELL.
