Home Product Center (HMPROTB)

A Better Outlook For 4Q24; Still BUY

- Maintain BUY and THB13.70 TP (40% upside), c.4% yield. Post yesterday's analyst meeting, we still expect Home Product Center's 4Q24 earnings to expand YoY and QoQ. Key drivers are improving upcountry spending, as well as better sales and profit margins for both HomePro and Mega Home stores. These factors could be near-term catalysts, coupled with potential government stimulus measures to boost consumption. Valuation is undemanding.
- Set to open four new stores in 4Q24, including three HomePro stores in Chiangmai, Mae Sot, and Phuket, and one Mega Home store in Chonburi. This would bring the total to nine new stores in 2024 (six HomePro and three Mega Home outlets). Management is continuing with its aggressive store openings, mainly focusing on the hybrid format, and aims to enhance the Mega Home sales mix to remain in the range of 20-25% over the next 3-5 years (9M24: 17.8%). We expect the company to open eight stores in 2025 (five Mega Home and three HomePro stores).
- Improving SSSG. Oct 2024 SSSG is expected to have declined by 2-3% YoY (3Q24: -5.8%) for HomePro and expanded 4-5% YoY for Mega Home (3Q24: -3.9%). HMPRO has benefitted from: i) Strong demand for home repairs following the recent floods in northern provinces, ii) favourable sales at stores in tourism destinations in the southern and eastern regions, iii) the state's cash handout scheme which may improve spending sentiment among primary income earners, and indirectly benefit Mega Home sales. 4Q24F SSSG may be driven by upcountry stores. Sales at its Bangkok stores are still soft (close to 3Q24 levels) due to cautious spending among the middle-income segment.
- 4Q24 outlook. Apart from the typical high season for retail, anticipated continued demand for home repairs in the northern region and improving farm income in Nov-Dec 2024 could support rural spending. HMPRO will run in-store sales events throughout Nov-Dec 2024 to boost traffic and topline. It will focus on improving profit margins and opex management to optimise cost efficiency. We expect 4Q24 earnings to expand YoY and QoQ, with better sales, GPM, and opex-to-sales ratio. We see a minimal 1% downside to our current FY24 forecast of 2% core profit growth.
- Valuation. Based on HMPRO's ESG score of 3.5 (above the country median), we applied a 6% ESG premium to its intrinsic value to derive our THB13.70 TP for the 12-month investment horizon. Trading at 18x FY25F P/E (c.-2SD from its 5-year mean; below pre-pandemic levels), HMPRO's valuation is still undemanding. Its improving 4Q24 earnings outlook and the Government's potential consumption stimulus measures should act as near-term catalysts.
