- Keep BUY and THB11 TP (SOP), 13% upside and >1% yield. From FY22 to now, Bangkok Expressway and Metro has shown a performance recovery. We expect this recovery to continue in FY23 when expressway traffic and Blue Line Mass Rapid Transit (MRT) ridership are on their way to reaching pre-pandemic highs. Hence, FY23 should be another year of solid growth. Meanwhile, there should be upside for BEM from the Orange Line MRT concession that lies ahead, awaiting to be awarded.

- FY22 facts. Within FY22, both expressway traffic and Blue Line MRT ridership improved steadily from the start of the year to its end. Both numbers ended Dec 2022 with 1.13m (+7% YoY, +3% MoM) and 351k (+72% YoY, -0.8% MoM) trips/day for expressway traffic and MRT ridership. On a yearly basis, actual expressway traffic numbers in FY22 increased a strong 22% YoY to 1.04m trips/day while MRT ridership rose even stronger (+84% YoY) to 271k trips/day during this period. Although both full-year averages remained below pre-pandemic levels, their upwards directions tells us that expressway traffic will reach pre-pandemic levels soon while MRT ridership will break new record highs within 2H23. Note: Ridership numbers over several weekdays during Jan 2023 have reached the previous high of 412k trips.

- 4Q22 to be the best quarter for core business performance. Despite the lack of dividend income received from related companies to be recorded in 4Q22, this final quarter should be FY22's highest quarter in terms of core business performance. We expect a 4Q22 net profit of THB605m (+53% YoY, -30% QoQ) while YoY growth should be solely driven by a stronger core revenue of THB3.97bn (+30% YoY, +6% QoQ). Note: Both averages in 4Q22 were the highest within FY22 on a quarterly basis, as BEM was able to command average expressway traffic and Blue Line MRT ridership of 1.1m and 349k trips/day.

- FY23 growth to get attention. After an initial recovery in FY22, we expect this process to continue in FY23. This is based on our assumption that FY23 averages for expressway traffic and MRT ridership will grow to 1.12m (+8% YoY) and 380k trips/day (+40% YoY). Full-year earnings growth this year should be intact, given these solid increasing trends, while BEM's related firms will also provide stable dividend income streams to the company in our view. We also think the high fixed-cost structure within its two major businesses will also be working more effectively, as FY23F earnings should grow 43% YoY, which is stronger than FY23F core revenue growth of 10% YoY.

- Based on our in-house proprietary methodology, BEM's ESG score stands at 3.3. As this is on par with the country median, we assign a 0% premium/discount to arrive at our SOP-based THB11 TP.

Overall ESG Score: 3.30 (out of 4)

E: GOOD

BEM has assured that the expressway users are provided with convenient, fast, safe services, by which the economic losses caused by fuel burning in the course of traffic congestion can be minimised. As for the metro system, in addition to safe, convenient, fast services provided to users, it is also an eco-friendly public transport system that consumes clean energy, helps minimise air pollution, and reduces greenhouse gas and carbon dioxide emissions.

S: EXCELLENT

BEM has carried out activities based on responsibility for impact its business has had on communities and the society. It also participates in helping to develop and maintain the well-being of communities. Its guidelines for operations on care for and collaborations in community development are divided into three target groups: i) Origin (communities surrounding the workplaces), ii) middle-way (communities along the service routes), and iii) destination (society as a whole).

G: EXCELLENT

The structure and agility of BEM's governance is essential to ensure consistency in: i) Strategic risk management; and ii) giving critical, accurate and timely information throughout the entire IT governance system. This is so that BEM can maximise efficiency in managing resources, in response to the ever-changing business environment.
