- Maintain BUY and SOP-based TP of THB10.77, 35% upside with c.2% FY24F yield. Bangkok Expressway and Metro has shared the data on its expressway traffic and MRT Blue Line ridership for November and 11M23. Unsurprisingly, both metrics point to a continued pick-up – which indicates that organic expansion still plays a major role in its earnings growth.
- Normally, November is a busy month in terms of commuting activity throughout the year. BEM's expressway traffic and mass rapid transit (MRT) ridership numbers for the month grew YoY and MoM, due to the full-month impact of the resumption of the school semester, and the absence of a long holiday period.
- BEM's Nov 2023 and 11M23 expressway traffic and MRT ridership increased YoY. Expressway traffic has continued to increase solidly, while the ridership of the MRT Blue Line has climbed by >20% YoY (on average) each month YTD. Both these businesses have benefited from the resumption of normal commuting activities throughout the year, while the MRT ridership has been boosted by higher frequency of meetings, incentives, conferences and exhibitions (MICE) activities starting from the mid-year.
- For Dec 2023, we expect both metrics to soften MoM due to the extended holiday periods this month. Nevertheless, expressway traffic may be flat YoY, while ridership of the MRT Blue Line will likely surge to record double-digit growth.
- Based on actual YTD numbers, FY23 should be another growth year for BEM as we expect FY23 earnings to spike up by 43% YoY as both expressway traffic and MRT Blue Line have trended north over 9M23, and dividend incomes from its associate companies have remained strong and intact. In addition, 4Q23 should bring YoY earnings growth, since the MRT business recorded +21% YoY growth in ridership in October and November.
- As the lawsuit over the MRT Orange Line (BEM has the concession to run this) has been dismissed by the Supreme Administrative Court, we expect FY24 growth to be driven by its ridership, which should remain firmly above 500K trips per day. BEM's weekday ridership recently reached 506K trips on 1 Dec. Therefore, its FY24 earnings may grow by 21% YoY. Meanwhile, its associate TTW (TTW TB, NR) may pay lower dividends to BEM going forward, but this would be offset by the sturdy performance of its MRT business.
- Maintain TP. Based on the solid organic growth of its core businesses, we make no change to our SOP-based THB10.77 TP. Our TP includes a 2% ESG premium, based on BEM's ESG score of 3.3 vs the country's median of 3.2.

Overall ESG Score: 3.3 (out of 4)

E: GOOD

BEM has assured that expressway users are provided with convenient, fast, safe services, by which the economic losses caused by fuel-burning in the course of traffic congestion can be minimised. As for the metro system, in addition to safe, convenient, fast services provided to users, it is also an eco-friendly public transport system that consumes clean energy, helps minimise air pollution, and reduces greenhouse gas and carbon dioxide emissions.

S: EXCELLENT

BEM has carried out activities based on responsibility for the impact its business has had on communities and society. It also participates in helping to develop and maintain the well-being of communities. Guidelines for operations on care for and collaborations in community development are divided into three target groups: i) Origin (communities surrounding the workplaces), ii) middle-way (communities along the service routes), and iii) destination (society as a whole).

G: EXCELLENT

The structure and agility of BEM's governance is essential to ensure consistency in: i) Strategic risk management; and ii) giving critical, accurate and timely information throughout the entire IT governance system. This is so that BEM can maximise efficiency in managing resources, in response to the ever-changing business environment.
