IRPC (IRPC TB)

Buy (Maintained)

Sturdy GRM, Limited Oil Supply; Maintain BUY

Target Price (Return): THB4.50 (25.7%)
 Price (Market Cap): THB3.58 (USD2,181m)
 ESG score: 3.33 (out of 4)
 Avg Daily Turnover (THB/USD) 499m/15.1m

- Keep BUY and THB4.50 TP, 26% upside with c.5% yield. IRPC's refinery business is set to perform well, supported by higher GRM and better utilisation rates. In addition to the Russia-Ukraine tensions, Kazakhstan's oil exports have been suspended due to sea storms that damaged its port and equipment, and will take time to recover – leading to limited supply and strong GRM. IRPC also provides attractive yields at the current price.
- Kazakhstan oil exports to decline. Crude oil exports from Kazakhstan's Caspian Pipeline Consortium (CPC) terminal on the Black Sea coast were fully ceased on Wednesday due to damage caused by a major storm and continued bad weather. Two of three loading facilities at the Black Sea marine port of Novorossiisk were damaged by the storm, and would reportedly take at least 1.5 months to repair. The CPC pipeline carries about 1.2m barrels per day of Kazakhstan's main crude grade, light sour CPC Blend – 1.2% of world demand. This will reduce global oil supply, and market GRM is expected to remain strong. Singapore GRM moves in the high range of USD7.00-12.00, leading to solid GRM among oil refineries.
- We expect the refinery business to be strong in 2022. IRPC's market refinery division's GRM is expected to move in an attractive range of USD6.00/bbl (2021: USD3.10), supported by a higher utilisation rate of 94% (2021: 90%) and higher gross product margins. This will help alleviate the softer petrochemical segment. We think 1Q22 petrochemical spread is likely to decrease YoY due to more supply coming from China and Malaysia. However, the acrylonitrile butadiene styrene or ABS business still has long-term potential, owing to higher demand from the automotive parts and packaging businesses. IRPC is also continuously extending into the high value-added products business, which we believe will provide higher long-term margins – the target is to have high value-added products of 23% to polymer sales volumes in 2022, up from 20% in 2021.
- Assigning ESG into valuations. IRPC has become a successful player in applying ESG principles in developing sustainable operations. Based on our proprietary methodology, we derive a 3.3 ESG score, which is in line with the country median. Accordingly, we apply a 0% premium to our intrinsic target of THB4.50 on the basis of 1.1x P/BV – in line with its 5-year mean – to arrive at our THB4.50 TP. IRPC still appears cheap in terms of valuation (-1SD) and has an attractive dividend yield of 5%. Therefore, we keep our BUY recommendation.
- Downside risks to our recommendation include a weaker-than-expected economic recovery, and adverse changes in new supply entering the market.

Overall ESG Score: 3.33 (out of 4)

E: GOOD

IRPC has various initiatives in place to monitor and minimise its environmental externalities. The company is also investing in expanding its eco-friendly product portfolio across both its refinery and petrochemicals segments

S: EXCELLENT

In line with its parent company's practices, IRPC has a broad scope on addressing the various social criteria, including the labour rights and safety of its people. This is in addition to promoting the development of its human capital as well as CSR footprint.

G: EXCELLENT

Good levels of transparency accorded by its annual reporting framework alongside regular management briefings with the market, backed by a diverse board composition.
